PRESS RELEASE

SavvyFi Joins Forces with the ReNEW Fund to Help Eligible WGU Nursing Graduates Pay Off Zero-Percent Interest Loans

Nashville, TN | SavvyFi today announced a new partnership with the Reinvesting in Nursing Education and Workforce (ReNEW) Fund. The ReNEW Fund, a partnership between Social Finance and Western Governors University (WGU), addresses the U.S. healthcare nursing gap by unlocking access to economic opportunity for aspiring nurses who face financial barriers. By offering zero-interest loans to thousands of students across the country through WGU's Bachelor of Science in Nursing Prelicensure (BSN) degree program, the Fund helps cover the final two years of qualifying students' tuition and fees, while also providing the financial support students may need to attend in-person training and labs.

SavvyFi will power the ReNEW employer contribution program, making it simple for healthcare employers to offer ReNEW Fund loan repayment as a high-impact benefit. From onboarding and loan verification to secure payment processing and reporting, SavvyFi ensures contributions go toward eligible graduates' loans and help them reduce debt faster while staying in the profession. Partner employers pay into the ReNEW Fund upon the hire and retention of WGU graduates, covering individual graduates' loan repayment obligations during employment, boosting retention and morale in critical nursing positions.

"Employers have the power to change the financial future of their nurses," said Jeffrey Hull, CEO of SavvyFi. "By making student debt repayment easy to offer and transparent to manage, we help deliver a benefit that improves lives and strengthens the workforce. Our flexible platform delivers fast, accurate payments at scale, making us uniquely qualified to support this program.”
